SCOTT VAN SLYKE

Scott Van Slyke, son of former Cardinal Andy Van Slyke, grew up in a Christian home here in St. Louis. In his words: “It wasn't until I went to a Billy Graham crusade when I was 14 that I realized what made Christ so beautiful. I was sitting with my back to the rafters, which is important to the story because I saw from my elevated position, in this huge arena, God’s children. Christ is beautiful to me, 1) because he is my savior, and 2) because he is for anyone and everyone. I realized that day that it doesn't matter who or what you are, why or when you screwed up your life, or what you look like that determines God's love for us. It’s Christ that brings us into the same family.

I’ve been a professional athlete now for 13 years, and I have had ups and major downs. It’s through the downs when God draws nearer to me. I wanted to quit baseball when I was about 24, I was doing terribly and not having fun. I asked that God would cause an injury so I didn't have the embarrassment of quitting. I yelled, He listened, but not to my request, He just listened to my pity party. Instead, he gave me a hitting instructor who taught me how to hit better, which in turn helped me get to the big leagues. It was that day in the outfield that I surrendered my career to him. I believe that God wants us to surrender everything to him. I am thankful to my God that he blessed me with faith; without it we are like dust in the wind, blowing around with no direction.”

Join us Saturday, January 21, to praise God with Scott.
