JERRY FEAGANS

Jerry is an Electrical Inspector for the City of St. Louis, Missouri, where he has been employed for 44 years. He oversees the operations of seven field inspectors, teaches classes on the National Electrical Code and leads code related seminars as a member of the International Association of Electrical Inspectors. He and his wife Patricia have four children, Christopher, Brian, Kelli, and Michael, and five grandchildren.

At the age of 9, Jerry accepted Jesus as his Savior, and as an adult, he has continued to stay active teaching Sunday School, directing Vacation Bible Schools and serving in church leadership roles. He particularly enjoys teaching, reading, camping and family activities. He gratefully confesses that: "My God has shown His love and mercy in my life every day, and I praise His name for His undeserved love."
